

IDEAS PROGRAM

The IDEAS (Increase and Diversify Education Abroad for U.S. Students) Program seeks to build higher education institutions' capacity to expand study abroad programs for U.S. students through the provision of grants and capacity building activities. Each year, the IDEAS Program awards grants of up to $35,000 to competitively selected U.S. colleges and universities from across the United States. The program also offers U.S. colleges and universities opportunities to participate in a series of study abroad capacity building activities, both virtual and in-person, to help establish, expand, and/or broaden their study abroad programs.

IDEAS GRANTS HIGHLIGHTS

From 2019 to 2023, the IDEAS Program provided 150 grants to U.S. higher education institutions to help build and strengthen their capacity to send more U.S. students — including those who are underrepresented in study abroad opportunities — overseas to destinations across all world regions.

As a result of IDEAS grants:

The IDEAS Program anticipates that because of these program outputs, more than 10,000 U.S. students will be impacted and exposed to study abroad opportunities over the next five years.

Thanks to our IDEAS grant, UTA students and faculty actively engaged in enriching activities and community interactions during their time abroad in Kenya. Our study abroad program stands as a testament to the transformative and life-altering learning opportunities that such programs can provide.

Foreign Policy Goal Focus: Civil Society, Journalism and Education; Climate, Energy, and the Environment

“Following our grant-funded trip, we have nurtured the relationships we built with Costa Rican universities and have already begun successful collaborations with them. We helped train some of their faculty members on virtual exchange and they have begun organizing virtual exchange projects with our faculty at Mott. We have five faculty members taking 10 students each to Costa Rica in the coming year. All of this has been possible because of the IDEAS grant support. We know that all of this work will have great impact on our students and our community for generations to come.”
